Detroit Man Dies in Crash

Osceola Accident Kills J. P. Verbosky, 46

Cadillac—Joseph P. Verbosky, 46, of Detroit, was killed Friday night when the car in which he was riding collided with another at M66 and M115 five miles south of Marion, according to Reed City state police.

Clarence G. Gist, 48, of Detroit, riding with Verbosky, was in serious condition Saturday with a skull fracture, according to attendants at Mercy hospital here.

The driver of the second car, Alfred Harding, about 60, of Lowell was in fair condition with multiple lacerations and abrasions, concussion and a possible shoulder fracture, hospital officials added.

Verbosky's body was taken to the Fosnaught funeral home at Marion.
