JUNE 23, 1909

Dr. B. D. Niles is quite apt to be on hand at the right time when there is trouble, an illustration of this trait being given at the depot Monday morning. A horse, looking as though he might be a hundred and deaf in both ears, suddenly went into a spasm when the morning train pulled in, throwing the lady occupant partly out of the buggy and landing her in a dangerous position. The doctor's athletic training in college served a good purpose, for he reached the frightened beast's head in two jumps and probably prevented the Eaton Rapids correspondent to the state papers from getting an item.—Times, Grand Ledge.

WEDDING BELLS

Vermontville Contributes to the List of June Brides.

BARNINGHAM-GREEN.

A very pretty wedding ceremony was solemnized on Tuesday evening at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Catherine Green, when her daughter, Miss Alice, was united in marriage to Arthur L. Barningham, the popular young cashier in the Citizens' Bank. The nuptials were very quiet owing to the illness of the bride's brother, only immediate relatives and a few friends of the contracting parties being present. Rev. R. W. Merrill of the Methodist church was the officiating clergyman and performed the very impressive ring service. Miss Ruby Green acted as bridesmaid, while the groom was assisted by Benjamin Shetenhelm. The house was beautifully decorated with roses, while the bridal party stood before a bank of sweet syringa. The bride looked charming in a dress of white net over silk and carried a beautiful bouquet of dark red roses. The bridesmaid carried a large bouquet of pink roses. After receiving the congratulations of their many friends the young couple left on the early train Wednesday morning for a wedding trip to Traverse City, where they will spend a short time visiting relatives and friends. Previous to their boarding the train at the depot they were surprised by a
