

mer Little Creek, especially with the more aged residents and those with whom he was intimately associated in a business and social way. His life was the expression of kindly sentiment in word and deed, and his geniality, loyalty and integrity made him the deserved possessor of countless numbers of friends in the various avenues of activity. His long and brave fight for health has elicited the deepest sympathy, and his demise comes as a release from extreme suffering. Besides his wife, Mrs. Nellie Rue-Fleming, one daughter, Miss Carolyn Fleming, survives.

Prominent Physician Dies.

After an illness covering several weeks, Dr. Frank H. Snell of Kalamo passed away Sunday morning about nine o'clock. He was one of the well known physicians of this county and also one of the oldest practicing doctors in the county. Dr. C. S. Snell of Vermontville was his brother and the two doctors spent a great deal of their spare time together.

The funeral services were held

Tuesday afternoon from his home and interment was made in the Kalamo cemetery. Mr. and Mrs. Frank Snell and daughters of Lansing, Miss Locke of Potterville, Mrs. H. H. Warren, Jr. of Kalamazoo were all at Dr. C. S. Snell's Tuesday prior to going to the funeral. We will give an extended sketch of the doctor's life next week. It is needless to say that his numerous friends will greatly miss him and all mourn with his family over his passing.
