

O. E. McLaughlin—Your piece in the paper gave me more credit than should have. You must remember the following ladies and girls gave their time and material also.—And I want to thank them for their help: Hazel, Hortense and Doris Faust, Barbara Wilson, Mrs. Gilmore and Miss Johnson.—Mrs. George Squires.

Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Barningham motored to Lansing Monday afternoon and stopped at a Standard Oil Salon just as they reached the city. The attendant recognized Mr. B. and inquired if he lived in Vermontville, and said his father used to preach here. The party was Floyd Millard, who has a sub-position with the company at present. He is married. His wife is a nurse in a Lansing hospital. He reports his mother well. She lives in East Lansing. Helen is teaching in Saginaw and Harold is attending Asbury College, Wilmore, Kentucky.

Robert Hall came back from Lansing for the opening of school this week.

O. E. McLaughlin will deliver an address before the annual convention of the Michigan Press Association at Lansing tomorrow.

E. B. Hammond was taken ill with the flu last week Wednesday. Pneumonia developed the first of this week and Dr. Inwood, Mrs. Inwood and Helen were called here and arrived Wednesday morning. We are glad to report Mr. Hammond's condition improving.

Bob Hall is installing an amateur transmitting and receiving radio station at the home of his Grandma Hall. The call letters are No. 8HYQ. He has one installed at Lansing. This number is WSGLB. Bob has an operators license and two station licenses.

The many friends of Gordon Lozo will be happy to learn that he is recovering from his serious illness of intestinal "flu" and pneumonia which were followed by an abscess of the ear and jaundice. Mrs. Wash, a trained nurse was in attendance. She went home Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin A. Clarke of Midland are the proud and happy parents of a little daughter, Alma Phyllis, who arrived Friday, January the 13th, at the Midland hospital. Monday Mrs. Clarke's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Allen Faust, and her sister, Mrs. Rhea Hess, of Nashville went to Midland to visit her and see the new baby.

Mrs. E. E. Loveland, Mrs. F. F. Ambrose and Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Loveland spent Sunday in Battle Creek with Mr. and Mrs. V. S. Gutshess and Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Berry and little Ronald.

This item was received by Dr. Snell from his grandson, John Warren, who is Sec. Class Seaman aboard The U. S. S. Southard. "A near accident was averted yesterday when the destroyer Southard picked up a land plane, piloted by Lt. N. F. Carton, who was forced down several miles out at sea. The destroyer steamed into port at noon with the disabled plane aboard. The pilot escaped without injury. This is the second time that the Southard, flagship of the 12th. division of the battle force, has made a name for herself as a rescue vessel this month. Last week, while on ready duty detail here, she raced from port 350 miles south to pick up George Cabral, stricken with appendicitis aboard the clipper Patricia, and brought him back to the hospital here, traveling at a 26 knot clip."—From the San Diego News.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Rawson and daughter, Miss Margaret Schram, who motored to Birmingham, Alabama, during the holiday vacation, report a wonderful trip and delightful time. Besides the 1600 miles and over there and back, they rode with the cousins at Birmingham many hundreds of miles about the city and surrounding country, and never saw an automobile accident. They left here Tuesday, December 27th, 7:00 a. m., and going via 31 route reached the home of their cousin, Mrs. Gertie Hawkins, 1620 31st Ave. N. on Thursday 3:00 p. m. Mrs. Hawkins and family are all in good homes of their own and enjoying life in the sunny south. Her youngest son, George, and one of Harold's daughters are with her. George has a good position as special mail deliverer. Her eldest daughter, Alma, and her husband, Alec Mixon, have two children, a boy 15 and girl 10. He is a clerk in the Birmingham post office. Another daughter, Eva, and husband, John Warlick, have a boy 7 and girl 5. One of Harold's girls live with them. He also has a government position as city mail carrier. In a letter the writer received January 8th from Mrs. Warlick, renewing her mother's Echo subscription, she says: "We have just been too excited to live. All of us have certainly enjoyed Flossie's and family's visit. Sorry they couldn't have stayed longer, but was so glad they could come. Hope they will come back and stay longer next time." Among the places of interest they visited on the trip down was Lincoln's birthplace in Kentucky. They were most royally entertained while at Birmingham, and visited many places of interest; the one week they were there being too short.

They also visited the families of Will and Andrew Rawson, returning home January 6th.

It is through the kindness of Mrs. Ned Sprague that we are able to publish this week the Escanaba Press clipping concerning Mr. Peter Legg, a teacher in this locality about forty-five years ago.

The Ladies Aid of the M. E. Church meets Friday (tomorrow) at the church for work all day. Mrs. Ford's committee will serve the dinner. The ladies are requested to bring their Lin-Riks, thimbles and needles.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Weaver of N. Benton, Mrs. Mae Wright and son Gordon and lady friend of Lansing and Mrs. Howard Hay of Grand Rapids were Monday guests of their father Will Sprague. They came with well-filled baskets to help him celebrate his birthday.

Mrs. H. H. Brown was ill this week but is better. Mrs. E. S. Brewer has been there to care for them. Mrs. Lela Reynolds and son Harold of Battle Creek and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Brown of Kalamazoo visited them Sunday. Mr. Brown continues about the same.

Friends of Mrs. Charlotte Aldrich Ellett of Marshalltown, Iowa, were sorry to learn that she had fallen a few weeks ago and broken both bones in her left arm and crushed her wrist. Xray shows that she is gaining. Mrs. Ellett was a former Vermontville high school teacher.
