W. KELLOGG FOUNDATION NOTES

A very successful pre-school conference was held at Vermontville on Wednesday, June 28, when seventy-five children (most of whom were given their first dose of toxoid as a protection from diphtheria) received physical and dental examinations.

The physical examinations were conducted by the local physician, Dr. C. L. D. McLaughlin and the dental examinations were conducted by his son, Dr. Neil McLaughlin, who recently received his degree in dentistry who is just establishing a practice in Vermontville. Miss Eliza Joyce Smith and Miss Roberta Foote, were the nurses in charge.

Mr. Lloyd Colburn, superintendent of schools in Vermontville, did much to formulate an interest in the clinic, but because of illness he was unfortunately prevented from being present at the clinic. Mrs. Iva Reed, Mrs. Green, and Miss McLaughlin were assistants who proved themselves to be invaluable in arranging for transportation and assisting with the clinic.

Mrs. E. J. Loveland has received the good news from her mother, Mrs. Ambrose, that she is much better and enjoying the west. Her nephew Rev. E. E. Mieras has a new pastorate at Venice, near Los Angeles, where the more southerly climate agrees with Mrs. Ambrose.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Kroger went to Dr. McLaughlin's cottage at Diamond Lake Saturday where they chaperoned a party of young people, Mary McLaughlin, Millard Pugh, Ethel Ragla and Edward Barber, motoring Sunday afternoon to Big Rapids to see Fred's uncle and returning home via Grand Rapids, and Wayland.

NOTICE

It is reported and discussed upon the street that a letter appeared at the Liquor Commission signed by me. This is far from the truth. I feel it within my province as a citizen to make complaint on any infraction of the law, and should I make this complaint, I would do so over my own signature; do it gladly, and be proud of it.

Whoever the person or persons were that signed my name have slipped to the lowest depths of both mental and moral depravity, and should I find who these person or persons are I will prosecute them to the fullest extent of the law, being aided in this by the postal authorities.

If you haven't a name that will carry any weight anywhere, don't use mine.

We are publishing this week the graduation essay delivered by Byron E. Hallenbeck at the V. H. S. commencement exercises held at the Congregational Church Thursday evening, June 14, 1894. This class numbered six, two young men and four young ladies as follows: Byron E. Hallenbeck, Victor D. Hawkins, Bertha Beekman, Maye Pendill, Edith and Nettie Walsh. Their class motto was "The Beginning But Not The End." In looking through an old scrap book we picked this production for publication thinking some of our readers would enjoy this high school essay of nearly forty years ago. We are aware that the needs of those days have not been met to any great extent as yet. The appearance of this article in the Echo will come as a surprise to the writer, but we take the liberty because of its worth.
