Mrs. May Slout. Betty and Billy, Mrs. Della Welshon and Frances and Mrs. Una Moss enjoyed "Rip Van Winkle" at the Slout Players tent in Battle Creek, Friday night, Lee Rawson motoring for them and Verne bringing them home. This story by Washington Irving was well presented by the Slout Players, Verne, taking the part of Rip, was especially good. The play was presented in five acts and was greeted with a good crowd. Harry Slout in solos and fancy dancing was one of the fine specialties between acts. The first of this week they played "Camille", with Ruth Slout as the star. The Vermontville people were also glad to meet Mrs. Dora Seymour and daughter Dorothy at the close of the show. Verne does much of his advertising through a new free weekly, "The Town Crier", published by H. W. Whitcomb, which is distributed to every home in Battle Creek. This is an eight page sheet. Verne has the four inside pages. Guaranteed advertisers make this publication possible and is good for all concerned.
