

as an inspector until September 16, 1950, when he was granted a medical leave of absence due to the illness which caused his recent death.

Mr. Wall is survived by the wife, Lenora E., two sons, Harold of Park Lake and William E. of Potterville; four stepsons, Carl E. and Harold L. Swainston, both of Lyons, O.I. Gerald J. of Kalamazoo and Claude R. of St. Johns; three sisters, Mrs. Cora Brantigan of Jackson, Mrs. Earl Irish of Athens and Mrs. Carl Keyes of Bellevue; and a brother John of Kingsley.

Dawes Dies Gained Fame Serving U. S.

Former Vice President Stricken While Talking With His Wife

Chicago—(P)—Gen. Charles Gates (Hell 'n' Maria) Dawes, banker and statesman who won fame in many fields, died Monday night. The 85-year-old former vice president, who served under President

CHARLES G. DAWES.

Coolidge from 1925-29, died of coronary thrombosis in his Evanston home. He was stricken while talking to his wife, Caro.

Dawes, who was in public life for more than 30 years, was chairman of the board of the City National Bank & Trust Co.

Headed RFC.

Dawes had been named as honorary chairman of the committee to greet Gen. MacArthur on his Chicago visit Thursday.

Success came to Dawes in banking and utilities. He was prominent in public life—as vice president, as ambassador to Great Britain, as cocreator of the Dawes plan, and as the director of the government's $2,000,000,000 reconstruction finance corporation. He also won fame as an author and composer.

In the last decade Dawes kept out of the public spotlight. He usually went to his office in LaSalle st. daily. He adhered to a policy of no interviews and declined to give his views on events, past or present.

Adopted 2 Children.

But it wasn't always so. After World war I he won the nickname "Hell 'n' Maria" from his testimony before a house committee investigating the administration of the war department. And his underslung pipe—which appeared at first glance to be upside down—also typified Dawes to the nation a generation ago.

Surviving besides his widow is a daughter, Mrs. Melvin B. Ericson of Evanston. A son, Rufus, drowned in 1912 when he was 21. Later Gen. and Mrs. Dawes adopted two children, now Mrs. Virginia Cragg of Kenilworth, Ill., and Dana McCutcheon Dawes of Marengo, Ill.

Final Rites Saturday for E. D. Stair

Former Publisher Succumbs at 92

Edward D. Stair, former publisher of the Detroit Free Press, will be buried Saturday in Woodlawn Cemetery.

Services will be conducted at 11 a.m. at the William R. Hamilton Funeral Home.

Mr. Stair, who guided the destiny of the Free Press for 34 years, died early Wednesday at 13,932

25,233
15,224
10,423
18
17
1
9
4
1
12
8
4
4
12
8
3
219
119
104
221
143
27
112
79
219
67
24
88
160
61
26
4,510
4,710
2,727
1,260
42
2,590
2,665
1,237
4,748
3,810
3,900
3,813

Additional details on page 11.